Summary

Hey there! I'm Arun, a dedicated Frontend Engineer with nearly 3 years of experience specializing in developing responsive and visually appealing web applications. My technical expertise includes JavaScript (ES6+), TypeScript, React, Redux, Java, HTML5, CSS3.

I'm passionate about writing clean, efficient, and maintainable code following best practices and coding standards. I optimize web applications for performance and scalability, ensuring a smooth user experience across devices. Collaborating with cross-functional teams including designers, backend developers, and product managers is key to implementing user-friendly interfaces that meet business objectives.

At Zoho Corporation, I've led the development of innovative solutions like a cross-browser keyboard simulation and a File Transfer SDK, significantly enhancing efficiency and usability. I focus on optimizing user interfaces and web applications to deliver scalable and user-centric solutions that elevate performance and enhance user experience.

Beyond my professional roles, I actively stay updated with the latest frontend development trends and technologies. I participate in code reviews, provide and receive constructive feedback, and continuously seek to enhance my problem-solving skills. I'm committed to sharing insights and mentoring aspiring developers on platforms like GeeksForGeeks and Topmate.

I'm eager to contribute my skills and drive innovation in frontend development. Let's connect to explore opportunities where I can leverage my technical expertise to create impactful web experiences!
